

ADI Standards

These Standards form the basis for ADI Accreditation.

In order for a program to be deemed compliant with ADI Standards, the program must successfully complete the ADI Accreditation Process and be approved as an Accredited Member of ADI. The following is a summary of the ADI Standards, however specific criteria must be met as outlined in the Accreditation Manual.

Should you wish to know more about these standards, please contact ADI at info@assistancedogsinternational.org. The Accreditation Manual and documents are only available to accredited members or candidate programs or by request on a case-by-case basis.
